ZAGREB PSI WELL MEETING

The third PSI WELL transnational meeting was taken in Croatia at Zagreb University. 15 members of project team synthesized the research results, the literature about parenting a child with special needs and worked to develop the prerequisites for a psycho-educational & social intervention model to sustain the social inclusion for the target families.

The project team planned the development of handbook for parents and also discussed about the designing of an adult psycho-educational kit for disadvantaged parents' social emotional learning. The discussion were centered on the kind of approaches and activities need to be included into the intervention practice.
